1 Goals 学習目標

2 Course Overview 学習概要

- A) This course will have a strong focus on improving writing skills, but to prepare for the topics you will be responsible for writing about, there will be communicative speaking activities as well.
- B) You will build writing skills by practicing to improve both fluency and accuracy, relating to the same or similar topic.
- C) In order to best express your ideas through writing, you will be expected to use English skills that you've learned across all of your English courses.

3 Methods of Study 学習方法

(1) In Class

In addition to learning about effective writing skills, you will measure and challenge your writing ability through in-class writing activities. Understanding the purpose of the writing activity (fluency vs. accuracy), you should focus on looking up and/or practicing the skills (vocabulary, grammar, speed. etc.) you feel are necessary.

(2) Studying at Home

One important step to improving your English is to continue your studies outside of class. At home, you must complete any assigned homework, but you can also review and revise your previous work, or prepare for upcoming lessons.

(3) Improving Your English Skills

You have learned a lot of vocabulary and grammar after many years of studying English. However, even after learning something, it's not guaranteed that you will be able to consistently use it perfectly. Hopefully this course will motivate you to continue to increase your knowledge of vocabulary and grammar, which can then be used to express your ideas through writing.
